DC Aviation Group becomes White Turf main sponsor

St. Moritz, 31st July 2023 – The St. Moritz Racing Club is pleased to announce a new main sponsor, DC Aviation Group. The business aviation company operates one of the largest and most versatile commercial business fleets in Europe and, like White Turf, guarantees unforgettable experiences at extraordinary locations in an exclusive environment.

The company has been present on Lake St. Moritz as an Official Partner of White Turf for several years. This commitment will now be expanded, and the DC Aviation Group will join Credit Suisse and Genesis as the third main sponsor of the prestigious horse races from 2024.

International competence and experience

The DC Aviation Group, with its headquarters in Stuttgart and branches in Dubai, Malta, Munich and Nice, stands for the highest performance and safety standards in all areas of flight operations. The company offers all-round premium services from a single source and operates one of the most versatile commercial business fleets in Europe. Due to its many years of experience and the very high training standards for cockpit personnel, the DC Aviation Group specialises in airports with specific requirements. For example, it also flies to Samedan Airport.

Taking off together

White Turf President Thomas Walther is excited about the new sponsor: "We are very pleased to deepen our existing cooperation and to have DC Aviation on board for the planning of our event in 2024." Michael Kuhn, CEO of DC Aviation Group, is also happy about the signing of the contract: "We are very pleased about this step, which brings us even closer together. Both White Turf and DC Aviation stand for an exclusive experience that delights guests – on the frozen lake of St. Moritz or on board our business jets."
